

1976/77

Roy Bassnett, Bank Official, Associate of The Institute of Bankers, was elected captain of the club at the 1976 annual general meeting. There were other personnel changes too at that meeting, including the election of Jean Hodgson as subscriptions secretary and Val Hough as a committee member. John Baron and Mark Belderbos were already in post as secretary and membership secretary respectively. These five were destined to serve together for the duration of Bassnett's captaincy.

The committee comprised seventeen persons altogether – twelve men and five women.

*

The classes of members and subscription levels at this time were as follows:

Full-playing members - £12-00
Country members - £9-00
Junior members - £6-50
Junior/Senior members - £9-00
House members - £3-00

Provision for juniors was enhanced by the entering of a boys team and a girls team in the newly formed Fylde Tennis Junior League.

Another initiative for the benefit of juniors was the extension of the times when they were permitted to use the courts. They could now play on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays up to 7 p.m., on Fridays up to 9 p.m. and on Saturdays and Sundays up to 1 p.m. and from 6.30 p.m. to 9 p.m. (They did, however, have to give way to any adult member on request).

Junior liaison secretary Paul Fielding commenced to run discos for the young members and Friday evening darts and table tennis sessions for them. Fielding's position of junior liaison secretary was an important one, not least because it gave the young members a voice on the club committee.

*

The men's 1st team won the Fylde Tennis League. There had been ten matches – eight won and two drawn. The squad comprised Steve Denner (Bolton), John Duckworth (Preston), David Gunson (Southport), Tony Jordan (Preston), Gerry Scholey (Blackburn) and team captain Martin Simmons (Lancaster).

The men did well in the Lancashire Club Championship too, reaching the semi-finals, in which they lost to holders Manchester Northern. Northern went on to win the championship.

*

The Captain's Day disco, held in the clubhouse, was a sell-out. One hundred and forty members and guests danced the night away to the music of renowned disc jockey Darrel Edwards.

*

Six Fulwood members played for their county in 1976 – Steve Denner, John Duckworth, sisters Lesley and Alison Jones (Alan and Kath Jones' daughters), Bob Mason and Martin Simmons.

Mason and Alison Jones played for Cumbria men and Lancashire ladies respectively in The Lawn Tennis Association County Cup Grass Court Championships – "County Week".

Denner and Simmons played one another in the semi-finals of the Lancashire men's singles championship. Denner won, and went on to become county champion for the first of six times. He achieved a clean sweep in the Preston Tennis Tournament, winning the men's open singles, the men's open doubles with partner Simmons, and the mixed open doubles. He was also an outstanding badminton player.

Lesley Jones was runner-up to Judith Danher of Liverpool in the Lancashire under-eighteen girls' singles championship and, with Peter Goodman of Manchester, won the junior mixed doubles. Miss Jones' brother Simon, partnered by Oldham's Michael Appleton, won the men's doubles event in the Lancashire Closed Invitation Tournament. He was the first Prestonian to win a senior Lancashire title.

*

The club champions were David Gunson (a former county champion) and Vicky Hinnells.

*

The committee took two winter initiatives in 1976 – the court floodlighting system, which hitherto had been restricted by Preston town planners to summer season use only, was made available to members for winter play, and the clubhouse was put at the disposal of members, for hire for private winter functions.

*

The annual dinner dance had become a Preston and district social highlight. The twelfth such event was held at The Trafalgar, Samlesbury (managed by Fulwood house member Roy Wilkinson). One hundred and seventy members and guests attended.

Neil Hough and Eric Parkinson were elected vice-presidents. Both had given long and valued service. Hough was first elected to the committee in 1967. He served as assistant treasurer from 1968 to 1975, as subscriptions secretary for the season 1975/76 – similar role, different name – and was founder of the 100 Club. He was a noted tennis player too and for a number of years had been Alan Jones' doubles partner. Parkinson was elected to the committee in 1964 and served continuously to 1977. He was chairman of the sub-committee which organised the club's participation in the fund raising competition run by the Lancaster & Morecambe Sports' Development Association and which, in the years 1963 to 1971, made profits for the club in the region of £1500. As bar secretary he had overseen the launch of the club bar in 1964. The profit made at the bar during Parkinson's years in charge is a financial record which was to stand for many a year.

*

In an attempt to spread the workload various sub-committees were formed. There was a bar sub-committee, a catering sub-committee, a development sub-committee, an events sub-committee and a grounds sub-committee. Thirty members held office.

*

A number of Fulwood members attended the golden jubilee celebration in Bolton of the Markland Hill Lawn Tennis Club. There had long been friendly rivalry between the two clubs and several Fulwood members had played with distinction over the years in Markland Hill's annual invitation tournament.

*

With the kind permission of Preston Borough Council the club adopted as its logo the shield from the armorial bearings of the Fulwood Urban District.

The shield epitomises the long history of Fulwood as part of the forest of Fulwood in the Royal Forest of Lancaster.

*

In the National Club Championship the men beat Rochdale and Halifax away but then lost to old rivals Blackpool South Shore in the third round.

The ladies had a poor season and finished bottom of the first division of the Fylde League, without a win in ten games. The team was relegated to division two.

*

Bob Mason was men's singles champion; Vicky Hinnells held on to the ladies title she had won in 1976.

The promising David Murtagh won the Boys' Junior Challenge Cup.

*

Alison Jones, partnered by Adrian Simcox of Southport, won the Lancashire junior mixed doubles championship, a title won in 1976 by her sister Lesley.

In recognition of Alan Jones' colossal contribution to the club, and of his outstanding leadership throughout the period of his captaincy, an inscribed silver salver was presented to him by Roy Bassnett, on behalf of the members, at the 1977 dinner dance.

Barbara Miller and Keith Sanderson were elected vice-presidents. Both had given long and valued service. Miss Miller had been a member of the committee from 1958 to 1976 and ladies' 1st team non-playing captain for many years. Sanderson had served as a member of the committee from 1966 to 1978. He was also a good player and a long time doubles partner of former rugby league professional, Welshman Reg Jones, with whom he had played many times in Fulwood teams.

*

With help from Mark Belderbos, and based upon a model for the 1980s suggested by The Lawn Tennis Association, Roy Bassnett re-drafted the club's rules. His proposals were adopted unanimously. There is a copy overleaf. The rules were supplemented by codes of conduct and court etiquette, written and unwritten, which the vast majority of the members observed to the letter.

One of the new rules permitted the election of up to three non-full-playing-members to the club committee. Over the following years a number of house members would be elected to the committee and would give valued service.

*

The club fielded a men's team in the National Club Championship, men's and ladies' teams in the Lancashire Club Championship and eight teams in the Fylde League. There were Fulwood men's teams in Fylde League divisions one, two, three and eight, women's teams in divisions two and four and boys' and girls' teams in the junior divisions. The men's team in division eight was made up entirely of members less than twenty three years of age.

To mark the fiftieth anniversary of the first fixture with Penwortham Lawn Tennis Club a match was played between the two clubs at the Fulwood ground. Fulwood's continuing supremacy was confirmed. The men won 4/0, the ladies won 2½/1½, the boys won 4/0, the girls lost 0/4 – overall score Fulwood 10½ rubbers, Penwortham 5½.

*

Visitors from Italy took part in the 1978 open junior tournament – the tenth. Neil Hough was the referee.

*

From April to September there was a tournament every month, (three in August):

| | |
|------------|--|
| April: | Open Day mixed doubles tournament |
| May: | Family Day mixed doubles tournament |
| June: | Captain's Day mixed doubles tournament |
| July: | Mixed doubles tournament |
| August: | Open Junior Tournament Closed Junior Tournament Annual Club Tournament |
| September: | Mixed doubles tournament |

Family Day was an opportunity for adult members to nominate a family member – adult or child – as their playing partner. Entertainment was laid on for children not involved in the tennis.

The events sub-committee also staged a string of social events – one a month, all year round. There were several and various themes. House member Tony Hodgson – Jean’s husband – and his band entertained the members at a jazz evening following the annual general meeting. Hodgson, with another house member, Derek Berry, would, at future club barbecues, demonstrate his culinary skills too!

This busy programme of tournaments and social events would endure for many years, thanks to the dedication of the events sub-committee members and others.

*

With partner Lillian Geey of Liverpool Alison Jones won the ladies’ doubles event in the Lancashire Closed Invitation Tournament (played, as usual, on Fulwood’s courts). Miss Jones was the first female Prestonian to win a senior Lancashire title. She was an outstanding doubles player, and was awarded Lancashire county colours. She was the only Prestonian ever to have been honoured in this way.

Miss Jones was also an outstanding netball player, a game she would play for England.

Fulwood members had contested county finals in six successive years.

*

In the club tournament Vicky Hinnells won the ladies’ singles for the third successive year (the fourth overall); A Ferguson won the men’s.

At least fourteen days' notice must be given to every Member (except Honorary Temporary Members) of the Annual General Meeting or of an Extraordinary General Meeting, but the accidental omission to give notice of a Meeting to, or the non-receipt of a notice of a Meeting by a Member, shall not invalidate the proceedings at the Meeting.

1980/81

Kath Baron retired from the committee at the 1980 annual general meeting. Mrs Baron had been in charge of catering since taking over from Kath Beetham in 1976. She had also provided valuable secretarial services, not least the typing of the club's records and correspondence. Mrs Baron's contribution to the administration of the club would continue, behind the scenes so to speak, in support of her husband, club secretary John Baron.

At the same meeting the office of vice-captain was reintroduced. Committee member Mervyn Edwards was elected to the post for 1980/81.

*

In order to provide affordable facilities for those in further and higher education a "student" category of membership was introduced. The subscription payable by student members was to be £17-50 for the 1980/81 season, £5-50 less than the amount payable by full-playing members.

Another innovation was the offer of a discount of 10% off the subscriptions of families whose total subscription bill was in excess of £50.

*

The membership at this time stood at an all-time high and the ratio of playing members to courts was probably the highest in the county. There were four honorary life members, nine honorary vice-presidents, one hundred and forty eight full-playing members, twenty country members, thirty two junior full-playing members, one hundred and seventy two junior members and one hundred and one house members – four hundred and eighty six altogether including, as can be seen, over two hundred youngsters. Demographic and social changes would make the record numbers unbeatable for the foreseeable future.

Thirty two of the young players, being junior full-playing members, enjoyed special privileges, most importantly the unrestricted use of the club's courts.

*

A difference of opinion over bar pricing policy was, unfortunately, to lead to the resignations from the committee of Brian Noblett and Arthur Fielding (Paul's father). Noblett and Fielding wanted the prices charged at the bar to continue to be heavily discounted. This would have been in the interests of some of the members. The captain wanted there to be less of a discount – a penny or two per item, as had been the case in the Parkinson era. This would be likely to result in higher bar profits (which would be put towards the cost of major works, e.g. court re-surfacing) and would be in the best interests of all of the members. The captain won the argument but the club lost two very good committeemen. Noblett had been in charge of the bar for several years and had given valued service. Fielding too had been a valued servant of the club, as a member of the bar management team and also of the grounds sub-committee. David Jones took over as chairman of the bar, with George Dickinson as his right hand man. Mike Williams kindly agreed to help Jones with the juniors and would be appointed junior liaison secretary, in succession to Jones, in the 1981/82 season.

*

The men's 1st team, average age only nineteen years, were runners-up to St Annes-on-Sea in the first division of the Fylde League. Seventeen-year-old Stephen Hazelwood, one of coach Mike Farrington's pupils, was an important member of the team and he played a number of times for the county boys team too. Hazelwood was 1980 Fulwood champion.

Another emerging talent was fourteen-year-old Jane Williams, daughter of Mike and Kath Williams. Jane won the Fulwood closed junior tournament girls' singles and, more importantly, the ladies' handicap singles in the Preston Tennis Tournament. She was almost certainly the youngest ever winner of a Preston Tennis Tournament senior event.

Helen Cox was Fulwood ladies champion. The 1980 tournament was the sixtieth.

*

A men's annual friendly fixture with Lymm Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club, Cheshire, was initiated, thanks to Michael Goodier, a member of both clubs. Fulwood would be represented at Lymm's centenary celebrations in 1981.

*

Court manufacturers En-tout-cas kindly sponsored the open junior tournament.

*

The 1972 development loans by The Lawn Tennis Association and The National Playing Fields Association had by now been repaid.
